(Atlanta, GA) – The winners of the 2020 National Environmental Achievement Awards (NEAA) will be honored tonight at the National Association of Clean Water Agencies’ (NACWA) Winter Conference, held at the JW Marriott Buckhead in Atlanta, GA. The NEAA Program recognizes individuals and NACWA member public clean water utilities that have made outstanding contributions to environmental protection, their communities, ratepayers and the water sector. The Awards are presented to category winners for Local Public Service, Environment, Utility Leadership, Distinguished Service, Operations & Environmental Performance, Public Information & Education, Public Service, Water Resources Utility of the Future, Watershed Collaboration, and Workforce Development.

NACWA is the only organization to offer national awards of this type to the municipal clean water sector.

“The individuals and member clean water utilities honored here tonight collectively represent the best and brightest innovators and leaders in the municipal water sector,” says Adam Krantz, the CEO of NACWA. “These NACWA members continue to act as forward-thinking stewards of the environment, ensuring compliance with the Clean Water Act while also displaying unparalleled dedication and commitment to serving their ratepayers.
